DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

- (a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.
- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1,2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP 60164467 A2.

JP 60164467 A2 expressly discloses a sterile composition comprising Dead Sea salts and water (Abstract).

Claims 7,8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by EP 0 937 453 A2.

EP 0 937 453 A2 expressly discloses a sterile composition containing Dead Sea salts (Pg. 3, lines 26-39, Pg. 5, lines 43-60, Pgs. 6-7, Pg. 8, lines 1-15).

Claims 3-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over EP 0 937 453 A2 in view of Gennaro.

EP 0 937 453 A2 discloses a nasal spray formulation composition containing Dead Sea salts for treatment of nasal or sinus congestion and to soothe coughing irritations due to bronchitis or similar conditions (Pg. 3, lines 26-39, Pg. 5, lines 43-60, Pgs. 6-7, Pg. 8, lines 1-15, 34, 24).

Gennaro discloses that pharmaceutical preparations are typically sterile, nasal solutions are typically aqueous, isotonic and slightly buffered to maintain a pH of 5.5 to 6.5 and, optionally, contain preservatives and stabilizers, and various aerosol preparations and devices, including methods of producing aerosol in situ (Pgs. 1293, 1500, 1662-1677).

The difference between the prior art and the claimed invention is that the prior art does not explicitly disclose a nasal spray formulation comprising a Dead Sea salt and mineral composition which contains a buffer or is present in the amount of 0.5 to about 5 grams per liter of solution, or a method of treating using a or a method of making a nasal spray containing Dead Sea Salts. However, the prior art amply suggests the same as method of using and method of preparing nasal sprays are well known in the art and it is known to prepare an use a nasal spray containing Dead Sea salts for the treatment of congestion and bronchitis and similar conditions. As such it would have been well within the skill of and one of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to modify the prior art as above with the expectation of formulating a nasal spray which is effective in obviate the effect of modern environmental conditions on the human body (EP 0 937 453 A2, Pg. 2, lines 24-31).

It is noted that this PCT case claims priority to U.S. Application Serial No. 09/345,043, filed 6/30/99. However, that U.S. Application does not appear to disclose a buffer, pH, amount in grams per liter of aqueous solution, that the product is essentially free of noxious organic impurities, the specific concentration of salts and minerals, a method of treating symptoms of adverse conditions affecting the nasal cavity and passageway comprising the steps of identifying patient with an adverse nasal cavity condition, obtaining a premixed formulation containing a Dead Sea salt and mineral composition in aqueous solution; and administering an aerosol formed from the formulation at least 1 time a day as symptoms of the patient persist, a method of treating symptoms of adverse conditions affecting the nasal cavity and passageway with a Dead Sea salt and mineral composition in aqueous solution, comprising the steps of obtaining a premixed formulation containing a Dead Sea salt and mineral composition in aqueous solution; and self-administering an aerosol formed from said formulations nasally at least 1 time a day as symptoms persist, or a method of producing a nasal spray formulation comprising Dead Sea salt in aqueous solution comprising dissolving Dead Sea salt in aqueous solution and storing this premixed formulation in a container suitable for aerosol nasal administration. As such, although EP 0 937 453 A2 was published after the priority date but before the international filing date, its disclosure is still prior art as to Claims 3-35.

Therefore, the claimed invention, as a whole, would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, because every element of the invention has been collectively taught by the combined teachings of the references.
